MEMOIR OF REV. JOHN T. HAZZARD.

Rev. JOHN T. HAZZARD was born near Lewes, Del., Oct. 17th, 1799. Of his childhood and early youth we have no information. In the 17th year of his age, he gave his heart to God at a camp meeting held at, or near, Zoar Chapel, on his native circuit. Soon after his conversion, he joined the M. E. Church. He early felt that "a dispensation of the Gospel" was committed unto him, and was soon brought forward by the Church to officiate as an exhorter. In 1822 he was licensed to preach. His labors as a local preacher were abundant, acceptable and useful. In 1828, having been duly recommended to the Philadelphia Conference as worthy of Deacon's orders, he was elected and ordained to that office. In 1832, he was admitted to Elder's orders.

A vacancy occurring on Snow Hill Circuit, in 1834, by the death of Rev. Samuel McElwee, brother Hazzard was appointed to the charge of that Circuit by Rev. Levi Scott, the Presiding Elder of Delaware (now Snow Hill) District. In this, his first circuit, he was very popular and useful. Such was the reputation that he gained, that though he was now thirty-five years old, he was strongly recommended and cordially received as a travelling preacher in the Philadelphia Annual Conference.

His first appointment from the Conference was to Lewes Circuit, where he had so long labored as a Local Preacher. The proverb, "A prophet is not without honor save in his own country," in this instance seemed to fail, for at home, he labored usefully, and did honor to his church, and brought glory to his God. The following two years he was on Snow Hill Circuit, where during the whole term he maintained that position which his first service had won for him. As his various appointments may be seen in the minutes, we will not here detail them—they were all confined to the two Southern Districts of the Conference.

He twice filled the office of Presiding Elder, and was Delegate to the General Conference in 1848. In 1855, he was appointed to the charge of Snow Hill District. This large and laborious district proved too much for his constitution, which, as his friends had perceived, was considerably impaired. Worn down in body and in mind, even when he entered upon his labors there, he was but the wreck of the former man. His frequent and long rides, the excitement and labors at his many quarterly meetings, the bereavement by the death of a beloved daughter, all conspired to hasten the close of his effective service in our Conference. Had he been released from this district at the end of his first year, it would, probably, have added years to his life. In the begining of the second year on the district, he failed very rapidly; still he persevered in his work until in June, 1856, he was attacked with paralysis.

The first attack was slight, and he rallied so, that on the next day (Sunday) he preached, though it was with great difficulty. On Monday he had another attack, which would have stricken him to the earth, had he not been supported by a brother minister. Burning with zeal for his Master's cause, he even in this severe stroke of Providence showed his unconquerable determination to be found at his post; and after a short rest, proceeded to the church where he preached what proved to be his last sermon. The next day, though so feeble that he ought not to have been suffered to do so, he started for his home alone;—so great was his weakness, that it took him two days to drive a moderate day's journey. On arriving at his home in Salisbury, Md., he was taken from his carriage to his bed, where for several weeks he was under the care of his physician. A cessation from all labor at this late period might have saved him to the church and to his family for several years, but as soon as he was able to do so, he resumed his district labors, and presided at his Quarterly Conferences. In these, his last visits to his circuit, his tender and faithful companion accompanied him, until late in the fall of 1856, when it became evident to both himself and family that he could do so no longer. Having procured a house in Lewes, Del., from which place he had started twenty-two years before, he removed thither. Though still living at the time of the last session of our Conference, he was so feeble as to render it impracticable for him to attend. At that session a superannuated relation was given him. He continued during the spring, summer, and early part of autumn gradually to decline, but so gradually, that his family occasionally flattered themselves that he might still somewhat recover his health. Thus lingering and sinking, "Patience had its perfect work in him," and "the peace of God kept his heart and mind." At length the fatal change came. On the 7th of October last, the final stroke of paralysis seized him; strong convulsions, with brief intervals, followed, until on the morning of the next day at about 11 o'clock, he breathed his last. No dying testimony could be given, but in intervals of bodily ease, in the language of his daughter, "an unearthly radiance illumined his face." "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

Brother Hazzard "was a good man, full of faith and the Holy Ghost." Though not favored with early literary advantages, and making no profession to scholarship, he had a strong, clear mind, was very familliar with the Bible, and an able minister of the New Testament. When in the prime of manhood, he preached the word with overwhelming power—and in all his fields of labor, whether as local or itinerant preacher, he had seals to his ministry, while in many places he was favored with extensive and glorious revivals of the work of God.

In all the relations of life, he was consistent, faithful and happy. He has left a widow and two daughters, who, while they mourn his loss, rejoice in hope of meeting him on high. Farewell, dear fellow-laborer! thy bright example and peaceful end shall be another stimulus to us to be "steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord."
